When the Amateur Baseball Commission moves to-night the question of affiliating with the Richmond Amateur Athletic Federation will be taken up for consideration. Should the two bodies agree to pull to-cether it will end a warfare that has caused onsiderable trouble in amateur ranks, and has seriously threatened the careers of several promising young athletes.

The meeting, which is the regular semi-monthly session, will be held at Murphy's lidiel at $150 octook. President Hill has extended an invitation to all managers of toams playing under the jurisdiction of the commission to be present.

With the two central bodies, both attempting to exercise jurisdiction over ball clube, and with radically different rules of amateurism, the game has been hurt in this city. Particularly is this true where the leaders of the federation bave had track men ruled out of meets on account of playing with teams under the commission. It has long been hoped that the two organizations would get together and agree upon some standard of amateurism, in order that the man under the several jurisdictions could contain the track work in Hichmond this fall and Fritz Hansen, the clever Worcester Swede, who is to meet Joe Turner at Broad Street Park next Monday night for the world's middleweight championship, will reach Richmond Saturday. Hansen advises the local promoters that he is in the best of condition, and expects to win with something to spare. With the scaips of John Kilonis, Jack Jordan, "Buil" Montana, "Demon" Bartlett and other notables hanging to his belt, the "Little Whirlwind" expects to give Turner the same does he is handing the others.

Joe Turner right now is in the best possible condition, for the champion has led a quiet life on his farm on the Broad Street Road, where he daily works out. The sale of seats will open this morning at McCoy's.

The promoters announce that ladies will be admitted free under the usual conditions.

ing clubs to fight it out for the championship.

It is probable that the forfeited game yesterday will be protested, as it is said that there was a misunderstanding about the grounds, the Collegians expecting to play at one place and the Ashlands at another. At 5 o'clock the latter team was sent to the field, and the signal to play ball given. The umpire promptly declared the game forfeited by a score of 3 to 0. Secretary Ben Tucker, of the Capital City League, was present at the time. He said that the clubs had been properly notified in regard to the grounds upon which the game was to be played.
